

LEAVEN a new initiative for CGSUSA - Volunteer Skilled Talent

This new initiative will match the skills and talents of experienced adults with the diverse needs of CGSUSA to build a stronger, more vibrant volunteer community in the service of the spiritual life of the child. These people will act like leaven in the community, producing abundantly. Leaven is tiny in size, and only a little is kneaded into the dough. Yet, given time, the leaven will spread through all the dough, helping the dough rise from within. Its effect is broad and comprehensive.

Leadership

We are looking for those in the community that can work with us to promote the sustainability of our national nonprofit organization and make a difference in the spiritual life of children.

Experience

Experience in the fields of volunteer engagement, technology, marketing is a great gift and a great need with in our association.

Active 8ed

ACTIVE 8 is based on eight leading practices for working with highly skilled volunteers. The staff and board of CGSUSA has been “active8ed” to be ready to receive the gifts and talents of those who are interested in serving our mission.

Volunteer

The CGSUSA offers many benefits to our volunteers including: national acknowledgement and exposure through our website; local professional development and networking opportunities; participation in stewardship gatherings; a complementary one-year membership in CGSUSA with a copy of our 2015 publication, Like Leaven; a discount on catechist formation courses; invitations to CGSUSA events and retreats and our annual Thanksgiving volunteer celebration, along with inclusion in regular office celebrations.

Engaged

We are looking for those who seek to be engaged with a joyful group of colleagues in a casual but professional environment. We are spiritually-oriented, we love celebrations, and we enjoy sharing our mission and vision with visitors through sincere hospitality.

National Associate of the Catechesis of the Good Shepherd

Onsite office space is available at the National Office in Scottsdale, or you may wish to work from home and take advantage of occasional Skype meetings or conference calls. Secretarial support will be provided.
